DATE & TIME: Monday, September 20, 2010 from 11:30 - 12:30
PLACE: FPRI Library, 1528 Walnut Street, Suite 610, Philadelphia

The Diffusion of Military Power (Princeton University Press, 2010) looks at some of the most important military innovations throughout history, including the advent of the all-big-gun steel battleship, the development of aircraft carriers and nuclear weapons, and the use of suicide terror by non-state actors, and shows how they have shaped the balance of power.

Michael Horowitz, a Senior Fellow in FPRI's National Security Program, is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Pennsylvania. He has served as a consultant for the Defense Department on a range of international security issues. In 2006-07 he was a postdoctoral fellow at the Belfer Center for Science and International Affairs at Harvard University. He completed his Ph.D. in the Department of Government at Harvard University.

Free and Open to the Public but Reservations Required.

Lunch immediately following for FPRI members at the Fellows Level.

Fox Booksellers will be on hand to sell copies of the book.
